

Something Must Be Done to Curb Swatting, or There Won't Be Enough Players to Finish Season

LIVELY RUBBER PILL STRIPS ALL SCIENCE FROM OLD PASTIME

Inside Baseball a Lost Art Science Players Have Begun to Hit With Such Reckless Abandon—Pitcher Has Little Chance These Days

THEY'D better take that funny, bouncing rubber ball out of baseball or there won't be enough players left to finish the season. There are too many heavy hitters in the big leagues and the number is increasing as the season rolls along. The batters are getting their batting eyes, taking a toe-hold and trying to knock the bulb out of the lot. They are not satisfied with singles nor does any one attempt to place his hits. It's just slambing with them and one long wallop is more satisfactory than a dozen short ones.

No matter what they say about the ball, whether or not it is made the same as in previous years, only the yards is of a higher grade, the fact remains that it is faster and livelier than ever before. You don't have to dissect the ball and make a close examination. All that is necessary is to go out to a big league game and see for yourself.

The lively rubber ball is making the game a joke. There isn't any science in it. Seldom do you see inside baseball—that smart stuff which used to win pennants for brainy ball clubs. Instead, the players go to it like a game of stevedores playing for the championship of the A's. A lead of two or three runs means nothing these days. Nobody is certain of victory unless the other side is a dozen markers to the good, and then it isn't an even-money bet.

Perhaps the success of Babe Ruth last year made the magnates believe that a lot of heavy hitting would make the game more popular, draw more spectators, increase the gate receipts and swell their bank balances. Therefore, a fast ball was introduced so that everybody could take a whack at it. New home-run heroes sprang up over night and batters couldn't hit the side of their bat blossomed out into 300 runs. Every day you read about a flock of home runs in the games, and if something happens and two clubs fail to register a homer an investigation is ordered.

AS A result, Babe Ruth no longer is a curiosity. The fans don't care to see him make home runs because so many of the other players are doing it. Last year it was a science with the Babe. Now it is burlesque. If he doesn't get 100 this season he is off form.

Speaks Right Out in Meeting

"BALL clubs don't need managers any more," said a big-league pilot the other day. "You can't play inside baseball and you can't get a one-run lead and play it safe to win the game. You can't pass one batter to get another and you can't draw your infield in to cut off runners headed for the plate. The whole game is turned around and the cause is the new ball."

The ball players do not like it, and the great majority have expressed a desire to have the old ball back again. This is especially true of the infielders. Those athletes are getting banged up every day and are afraid of all hard-hit balls, which once upon a time were easy outs. Now the ball is likely to take a hop and hit the fielder in the face or tear the bark off his shins. The White Sox are wearing shin guards, it is said, to save their legs.

Outfielders are getting the worst of it also. They are forced to lean against the fences in center, left and right fields, and if a ball is knocked out there, they haven't a chance to get the runner as he advances a base. Two throws are needed, and in the old days one would suffice.

Another trouble is the length of the games. Even last year some of the championship contests were played in a little more than an hour, but you don't find it this year. Two hours is the time of a very fast game and a majority last longer than that. It's a good thing the daylight-saving law was passed. It gives the players a chance to finish the games without hanging a lantern on the ball.

Oh rare occasions, up to this year, a batting rally would be staged and nine men face the pitcher in one inning. Now this is common. Whenever a pitcher gets into trouble there is no telling how many men will face him in an inning or how many runs will be scored. Look up the records and you will find that more runs have been scored thus far this season than in the history of the game for the same length of time.

THE entire thing is all wrong. Instead of putting on a refined act, the game has reverted to slap-stick comedy.

Pitchers Are Taking Long Chances

AND now let's take a slant at the poor, overworked pitchers. Those guys are taking their lives in their hands every time they step on the mound. They throw the ball at the batter and the batter knocks it back at them. Sometimes they get out of the way. Then they get a pitcher last the entire nine innings. Usually three or four are inserted before the battle is over. They can't last because the strain is too great. Not only do they have to work on the supposed weakness of the batter, but they must be ready to jump to one side or fall flat on their faces when a screaming liner whizzes past.

The funny thing about this new ball is that the pitcher hasn't a chance. The moguls have legislated against every form of freak delivery, with the exception of the splitter, and only the veterans are allowed to use that. The new twirlers coming into the league must use the regulation delivery, meaning a curve, fast ball and change of pace, and they aren't enough. Therefore, many of the youngsters are fooling and taking railroad journeys to the bushes.

A fast-ball pitcher now hasn't a chance. His speed is just what the batters want and they seek it all over the lot. If a good curve-ball pitcher steps on the mound, he has more of a chance. Big-league managers today are looking for curve-ball pitchers. They are passing up the speed merchants and sending them back with the sign: "Opened by mistake."

"I AM looking for pitchers who can throw curves, have a good slow ball and little speed," said a scout the other day. "However, they are hard to find. Unless the ball is changed soon, there won't be any pitchers."

Winning Clubs Have Curve Pitchers

THE reason for the good work of the Boston Braves is the curve-ball pitcher on the club. The same goes for Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Urban Faber is winning most of his games because he has a change of pace and a good curve. Batters can be fooled the same as of yore, only the majority of pitchers can't realize it. No longer do they throw the ball past the batter, and the sooner they get the better.

"You can't outthink a batter any more," a pitcher told me. "All you can do is outgame him. Just throw the ball up and when it comes back try not to be there."

All of which leads to a suggestion that twirlers should be rated according to points a la Hughie Fullerton. If he sticks nine innings and doesn't get hurt, he should be given 1,000. If he lasts four and one-half innings, hand him 500. It would prove who were the bravest of the brave at the end of the season.

Some day a pitcher is likely to step on the mound wearing shin guards, a chest protector and a mask. Then he will win some games and giggle at all of the batters.

Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

A'S JOIT INDIANS AND TIE FOR 7TH

Roy Moore Subdues Champions and Reduces Their Lead Half a Game—Witt Stars

PHILS PUMMELED AGAIN

The best piece of news that can be handed to local fandom today concerns our progressive, hustling, fighting Athletics. They walloped the daylights out of Tris Speaker's clan yesterday and in doing so enabled themselves to get into a tie for seventh place. Detroit handed the White Sox a double reverse and the figures in the percentage table make the A's have thirty victories and forty-four defeats and the Sox the same number. Here in Philadelphia, despite the tie in the tables the Athletics will be found in seventh place, a matter of municipal pride.

Roy Moore was the party who spilled the proverbial beans for Speaker and his clan. Roy has been spoken of more than once as a promising southpaw twirler, particularly early in the season when he was losing with sickening consistency. Since the dramatic upturn of the A's—it cannot be called anything else but dramatic—it was entirely unexpected—young Mr. Moore, otherwise called "the ace," was the star. He has been hurling brilliant baseball. Yesterday he demonstrated to a huge crowd at Cleveland that the early predictions made about him are true. He held the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics in a mean tuck with the array of sluggers on President Dunn's payroll. Speaker himself, who is engaging in a bitter duel with Ty Cobb and Harry Heilmann, of the Tigers, for the honor of being the league's leading hurler, was forced to bow to Mr. Moore, not a single protruding from the bat of the brilliant manager during the game.

While the Indians were doing stunts for the Macklets, Cy Perkins and his pals were performing feats of valor for the edification of the Cleveland team and the fandom of the town of the world's champions. Whitt Witt came to bat four times and shot out into the greensward a double and two singles and dug his spikes into the platter on two occasions. Joe Dugan had two singles that aided in the run-getting, while Welch, Perkins, Galloway and Moore each connected for one-base blows. Jimmy Dykes contributed a triple that scored the winning run. The victory came in the seventh, when Witt doubled, Dykes tripled over Speaker's top piece and Witt about a sacrifice fly into the atmosphere that counted the Main Line citizen.

While the Macklets were jolting the Indians, the Phils were receiving their most terrific lacing of the current season at the hands of St. Louis. George Columbia Smith was the recipient of as many a trouncing as has been given to any pitcher in the league. Twenty hits were made off his delivery during the nine frames he worked, Jack Smith leading in the slaughter with two doubles and as many singles as he could get. The regular batting order of the Phils was completely demolished. Rogers Hornsby banged out three singles out of as many trips to the plate, while the remainder of the Carls hit once or twice. Early in the game the regular batting order of the St. Louisians hit safely at least once and scored at least one run during the nine frames.

What May Happen in Baseball Today

Club	Win	Loss	P. C.	Win	Loss
Philadelphia	30	44	.409	1914	1008
New York	28	38	.423	1914	1008
Boston	27	37	.423	1914	1008
St. Louis	27	37	.423	1914	1008
Cleveland	27	37	.423	1914	1008
Pittsburgh	27	37	.423	1914	1008
Chicago	27	37	.423	1914	1008

LEONARD BOUT IS NEWS TO TENDLER

Rickard Has Made No Effort to Sign Lew for Title Match

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

If Lew Tendler, local lightweight star, and Champion Benny Leonard, of New York, are to appear in one of three title bouts with Rickard planned for the mammoth amphitheater on Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, there is no one in Philadelphia who knows anything about such a match. Rickard may have that contest in mind, all right, but up until the present time he has made no effort to sign Tendler.

"I know nothing of a match with Leonard," said Phil Glassman, Tendler's manager, today. "The last time I saw and spoke to Rickard was more than six months ago, when we were unable to reach a favorable agreement on several matches at the Madison Square Garden. If he really intends to match Tendler with Leonard, it is news to me."

"Certainly," continued Glassman. "Tendler is ready for a match with Leonard. Rickard, I understand, will not put on the bout unless Benny comes in at the lightweight limit, 135 pounds, or in at 2 o'clock. Well, I guess he won't put on the bout unless that is a condition of the bout. Of course, I'm ready to do business. Let Rickard start things a-buzzing."

Tendler also intimated that he was ready to take on Leonard—in fact, he has been for some time. "And I'm sure I can win the title from him," added the Philadelphia southpaw.

According to Rickard there are to be more boxing matches at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

The promoter is planning three world's championship bouts, one of which will be the title fight in the world's flyweight championship, into the ring with Johnny Buff, the American titleholder.

The other two matches, he says, will be between Leonard and Tendler, and Eastmanweight Champion Joe Lynch and Pete Herman.

"I will match Leonard and Tendler," Rickard is quoted in New York, "but only in case Leonard will make the weight and make the battle for the championship. I will not handle the fight if it is not to be a championship battle."

"I will have nothing to do with a fight between a white man and a colored man for the heavyweight title. There is absolutely nothing to the story that I wanted to bring Harry Wills and Jack Johnson together on August 22."

"I would not bring Johnson here. His record is against him, and we have enough to contend with without putting ammunition into the hands of the reformers. Neither will I have anything to do with a match between Dempsey and Harry Wills. Wills has a clean record, but as I said before I do not

Victory for Preston Brown

Preston Brown defeated Johnny Griffin of the Tigers, which enabled the Athletics to get into a tie for seventh place in the National Club last night. Griffin was a member of the regular batting order of the Phils and he was the only member of the regular batting order of the Phils who was not hit safely at least once and scored at least one run during the nine frames.

Joe Dugan, who was the star of the game, hit a double and two singles and dug his spikes into the platter on two occasions. Whitt Witt came to bat four times and shot out into the greensward a double and two singles and dug his spikes into the platter on two occasions. Joe Dugan had two singles that aided in the run-getting, while Welch, Perkins, Galloway and Moore each connected for one-base blows. Jimmy Dykes contributed a triple that scored the winning run. The victory came in the seventh, when Witt doubled, Dykes tripled over Speaker's top piece and Witt about a sacrifice fly into the atmosphere that counted the Main Line citizen.

Bingles and Bungles

The Pirates sniped a half game on the Giants without making a bingle. Freda Hodder, captured a ten-inning tilt from the Giants on Schmidt's homer.

Babe Ruth had an easy afternoon out in Pittsburgh, where the Pirates walloped the Yankees by a score of seven to one. Bustini Bambino fanned twice and skied on his other two times at bat.

RAILROADERS IN MEET

Auditor of Revenue A. A. to Hold Sports Tomorrow

The first annual athletic meet of the Auditor of Revenue Athletic Association of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be held tomorrow afternoon at Hindonfield, N. J. Fourteen events have been arranged by John A. Roden, director of athletics. A baseball game between the various sub-departments, married men vs. single men, will be a part of the program.

Among the events will be relay races, 75-yard dash, shot-put, tug-of-war, high jump and broad jump. Prizes will be awarded to those finishing first, second and third in the different events.

Runs Scored for Week in Three Big Leagues

Club	NATIONAL LEAGUE
	S	M	T	W	T	F	S
St. Louis	8	8	8	21	5	11	41
Boston	6	9	5	11	8	6	39
New York	12	5	5	11	6	6	27
Brooklyn	2	5	11	7	2	2	23
Phillies	3	6	6	2	2	2	23
Cincinnati	8	2	2	2	2	2	16
Pittsburgh	2	2	2	2	2	2	14
Chicago	3	3	3	3	3	3	14

Club	AMERICAN LEAGUE
	S	M	T	W	T	F	S
Cleveland	0	17	10	3	3	3	45
Detroit	5	11	5	0	22	2	43
Chicago	5	14	4	2	14	3	39
Athletics	12	5	5	5	5	5	39
Washington	4	11	11	2	5	2	28
New York	20	7	2	2	2	2	27
Philadelphia	3	6	2	2	2	2	23
Cincinnati	8	2	2	2	2	2	16
Pittsburgh	2	2	2	2	2	2	14
Chicago	3	3	3	3	3	3	14

OTHER BOUTS ARE PLANNED

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

If Lew Tendler, local lightweight star, and Champion Benny Leonard, of New York, are to appear in one of three title bouts with Rickard planned for the mammoth amphitheater on Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, there is no one in Philadelphia who knows anything about such a match. Rickard may have that contest in mind, all right, but up until the present time he has made no effort to sign Tendler.

"I know nothing of a match with Leonard," said Phil Glassman, Tendler's manager, today. "The last time I saw and spoke to Rickard was more than six months ago, when we were unable to reach a favorable agreement on several matches at the Madison Square Garden. If he really intends to match Tendler with Leonard, it is news to me."

"Certainly," continued Glassman. "Tendler is ready for a match with Leonard. Rickard, I understand, will not put on the bout unless Benny comes in at the lightweight limit, 135 pounds, or in at 2 o'clock. Well, I guess he won't put on the bout unless that is a condition of the bout. Of course, I'm ready to do business. Let Rickard start things a-buzzing."

Tendler also intimated that he was ready to take on Leonard—in fact, he has been for some time. "And I'm sure I can win the title from him," added the Philadelphia southpaw.

According to Rickard there are to be more boxing matches at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

The promoter is planning three world's championship bouts, one of which will be the title fight in the world's flyweight championship, into the ring with Johnny Buff, the American titleholder.

The other two matches, he says, will be between Leonard and Tendler, and Eastmanweight Champion Joe Lynch and Pete Herman.

"I will match Leonard and Tendler," Rickard is quoted in New York, "but only in case Leonard will make the weight and make the battle for the championship. I will not handle the fight if it is not to be a championship battle."

"I will have nothing to do with a fight between a white man and a colored man for the heavyweight title. There is absolutely nothing to the story that I wanted to bring Harry Wills and Jack Johnson together on August 22."

"I would not bring Johnson here. His record is against him, and we have enough to contend with without putting ammunition into the hands of the reformers. Neither will I have anything to do with a match between Dempsey and Harry Wills. Wills has a clean record, but as I said before I do not

NEBRASKA INDIANS COMING

Will Play the North Phillies Here on Monday and Tuesday

The Nebraska Indians, a baseball team of full-blooded Haskell Redskins, who are now on a tour of the East, will make their first appearance in this city next Monday and Tuesday when they play the North Phillies on the latter's field at Fourth and Wingo-locks streets.

Before the game the Indians appear in full Indian regalia, which is said to be a wonderful sight and they created a furore last week when they appeared at the Polo Grounds during a double-header and shared the crowd's interest equally with the famous Babe Ruth.

Vacancy in Industrial League

There is a vacancy in the ranks of the Philadelphia Manufacturers Baseball League and any industrial team can secure the empty slot by holding this season at Yonah Hill, 2726 West Columbia avenue, on the 11th of this month. At least seven of the nine men in the line-up have full-time employment.

SUZANNE LENGLEN WONDER ON COURT

French Girl's Youth, Speed, Accuracy and Tennis Instinct Likely to Keep Her at Top of Heap for Years to Come

By GRANTLAND RICE

The Test is about all one can ask without going too far.

"RUTH'S big ambition still centered upon making 100 home runs. And yet they stabbed Casareo for an ambition that included only the membership of the team."

Copyright, 1921. All rights reserved.

CHANGES PLAYING NIGHT

Goodfellows to Stage Weekly Game on Tuesdays in Future

The Goodfellows baseball team, which represents the commission men of the Dock Street market, has changed its playing night at Strawbridge and Clothier Field to Tuesdays, owing to the store team having decided to play on the field on Wednesdays. Manager Bill Lombardi has booked a number of strong teams starting on Labor Day. The line-up, which is one of the best in semi-pro ranks, has been further strengthened by the addition of the Lennox brothers, Sam and Bill, who are playing on Tuesdays. This trio was a while played with New York City jobs and Gilbert, the star Camden City player, are also in the Goodfellows' line-up. Carroll, a new hurler, has also been secured.

Manager Lombardi would like to get in touch with Hobfield, Nativity, Ivins, Shanks, Fleisher, North Phillips and Dobson for games away. Address Bill Lombardi, northwest corner Second and Dock streets.

DEMPSEY MAY BOX FULTON

Labor Day Bout at Benton Harbor is Planned

Chicago, July 8.—Jack Dempsey left Chicago last night for Salt Lake City to visit his mother. The heavyweight has been here since Wednesday morning, visiting friends and resting.

He also discussed with Floyd Fitzsimmons, fight promoter of Benton Harbor, Mich., a project to have him fight here since Wednesday morning, visiting friends and resting.

The champion appeared willing, provided his manager, Jack Kearns, has not something else in view. Fitzsimmons said he would like to match Dempsey and Fred Fulton, of Rochester, Minn.

GIBBONS IS WILLING

St. Paul Boxer Says He's Anxious to Meet Carpenter

St. Paul, Minn., July 8.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight boxer, is now on a vacation that will last until the middle of August and until it is over he will not think about boxing.

That statement was made to a local sporting editor by Gibbons over the long distance telephone from Ocala, Minn., where he is staying at the Hotel Ocala, seeking to get in touch with him in an effort to arrange a bout with George Carpenter, of France.

However, the St. Paul fighter said he hoped the match could be arranged, for he is anxious to meet Carpenter.

Quite a Flock

In addition to Tom Gibbons and Bill Brennan, there are Martin, Capone, and one or two more who can be used to make up a series of interesting seasons by way of whiling away the remaining summer days.

With proper matchmaking the best of this lot can be finally picked for a toss at the championship, for while the class on parade isn't anything astounding, it is something above normal. Which is precisely what counts.

Punishment

I've never missed a two-foot put. Without I felt my right eye cut. I've never seen my mask fall. Without I felt my soul torn pale.

RABBIT MARANVILLE cables that, while he won't starve in any case, he will still be able to use some World Series coin after a wait of seven years since the last crop was harvested in his vicinity. (See Tommy Rabbit's column.) Hans Wagner's ancient footprints extremely large, but he has come so close to filling them as any one could, which

M. & H. SELL IT FOR LESS

FISH!

They're Biting at Ocean City, Wildwood, Somers Point, Anglesea, etc.

Bringing home a big basket or a fine string of fish is not mere luck. The M. & H. old reliable tackle that doesn't let 'em get away is the thing that does the trick. The days of going out and bringing home a big mess of fish with a piece of string and a bent pin are over—if they ever existed. If you don't know what kind of tackle to use to catch the particular kind of fish you want, M. & H. will tell you, equip you right and save you money.

We Furnish Everything Except the Fish

HERMOS Fun, Thrills, Sport, Good Time—Join the M. & H. FISHING CONTEST $300 in Prizes

Don't only catch a big fish, but get a prize for doing it. Show your friends—give 'em a good time—let your fellow who tells you about the 'big one that got away.

Open to All No Obligation

If you can't call a store and register, write and card will be sent.

Salt Water Rods 2 piece, Stanchy 2 m d e, strong, dependable. $2

Foxy Quiller $1.25

Crab Trap

50-Yd. Spool 50¢

Line, Now 50¢

Hooks 35¢ & 50¢

Dozen

Fish Baskets $1.25 $1.50 $1.75

Canoes, Paddles and Accessories

Canoe Back

Rests Single, $1.25 Double, $1.75

$2 Canoe Paddles, $1.50 Oars, 20¢ per Foot

Carleton Canoes $67

Carleton from famous design of Pennacook Indians. Strong, sturdy, dependable. Letter or order today.

$2 Kapoc Life Preserver $1 Cushions

HARTMAN'S, 522 Market St.

WEEKLY FISHING EXCURSION To Fortescue, including bus, boat, tackle and bait. Leaves Sunday 2 A. M. Tickets for sale here. Send for Jersey Tide Table—It's Free.

Parcel Post—No Extra. Open All Day Saturday Until 10 P. M.

Boots and Saddle

Believe Idle Hour at the weights should defeat High Cow in the Spring Hill Farm Handicap at Latonia today. Horses well placed in other races are: First, Black Hawk; Botheater; Follow Tree; second, Commander; Cilly; Salamander; Field Lark; third, Cho. Cho. Advocate, Runam; fourth, Virgo, Captain Res, Young Adam; sixth, Bernice K., Equal Rights, Birdie G.; seventh, Ace, Blanche Ma; Miss Fontaine.

At Aqueduct—First race, Margaret White, Hyperbole, Kirtle; second, Sir Mac, New Haven, Saywhich; third, Lobo, Jennings Park, Neddam; fourth, Neddam, Edwin, Sweep Clean; fifth, Bantey, Sunny Hill, Brink; sixth, Overtake, San Stefano, Collings.

Scraps About Scrappers

Georges Carpenter will not box again in his present stay in the States. He's going home to have his injured right hand treated, leaving on La Savoie July 14, but Georges will return. Deacon, who has defeated Carpenter, earned a lot of glory, and he would be a big card against Tommy Gibbons on Labor Day, but his fractured right thumb will necessitate his idleness for a period of at least three months. Carpenter plans to return some time in November.

This is the Cambria A. C.'s open-air night. Fugly Lee and Tommy Golden box in the wind-up. Other bouts: Freddy Turner vs. Bobby McCann; Johnny Royle vs. Tommie Adams; Frankie Smith vs. Kid West and Mike Ribbo vs. Lawrence Herderson.

Leaches Cross apparently is no fliv as a declaration to Jimmy Duffy over Cross in New York Wednesday night. There were many who believed the worst. Leaches dearsly was a draw. Cross' next bout will be at the Casino Park here against Frankie Rice, a terrific home puncher.

Knockout Loughlin's victory over Johnny Gill at Harrisburg early in the week was his fourth, and it now is probable the latter will not wait any more for the youth Bethlem's battle's game. Pete Tyrrell now is conducting for a bout with Jack Britton for Loughlin.

Pat Conover, of Grays Ferry, will be Pat Bradley's opponent at the Eleventh Street Arena Monday night. Conover is the latest middleweight product of Grays Ferry. He has been training with Scop Devanny and Joe Connors at Harry Doyle's.

Earl Hartman scored his eighth knockout of a total twenty-four when he showed away Terry Hanlon at Atlantic City last week. Hartman is gaining in weight and probably will be a heavy weight in the future. Jack Weinstein has matched Hartman with Johnny Paxson at the Cambria for his next bout.

Joe Marks and Joe Richards, local boxers, have been matched to meet Hartman in the Wilmington tonight. Old Hackett is the matchmaker.

for real enjoyment

MILD—But with a distinctive fragrance and taste that result from uncopyable blending of the choicest Havana.

G. H. P. Cigar Co., Inc., Philadelphia, Pa., Mfgs.

EL PRODUCTO

Especcionales 3 for 50¢

Bouquet 10¢ straight

Drastic Reductions!!

New Stock Sporting Goods

25% To effect an immediate clearance, we are sacrificing our stock. Your opportunity is here—biggest values in Philadelphia. Come here and save one-fourth.

Save 25 Per Cent

GLOVES $3 BATS, $1.50

MITS $1.50

MASKS $1.50

Radio-Lite Watches 4.50 Value $2.00

Shoes Reduced

Plain $6 Value $4.00

Plain $7.50 Value $5.00

Plain $8.50 Value $6.50

Plain $12 Value $10.00

Tennis Shoes $3.00

Life Guard Bathing Suits, $5 Val., Now $1.75

One-Piece Worsted Bathing Suits, $3.00

WEEKLY FISHING EXCURSION To Fortescue, including bus, boat, tackle and bait. Leaves Sunday 2 A. M. Tickets for sale here. Send for Jersey Tide Table—It's Free.

Parcel Post—No Extra. Open All Day Saturday Until 10 P. M.

HARTMAN'S, 522 Market St.